Ph.D. In Finance

(In Progress) Final Draft Submitted

My PhD research focused on unraveling the FinTech adoption behavior of banking customers in Pakistan, integrating the Theory of Planned Behavior (TPB) and the Unified Theory of Acceptance and Use of Technology (UTAUT2). The study examined the key factors influencing consumer intentions to adopt FinTech services, such as mobile banking and digital payment systems, while addressing barriers like trust, security, and perceived ease of use. This research contributes valuable insights into the behavioral intentions of customers and provides a deeper understanding of how these theories can be applied to FinTech adoption in the banking sector
